

JetSupport provides technical services and support for business aviation. We focus on flexibility, transparency and a personal touch. We continuously improve our operations to meet and exceed the needs of our customers. Our technical services are customized for the most popular business aviation aircraft types. Our customers' value maximum aircraft availability which we provide by conducting preventive and corrective maintenance. We also facilitate special projects, ranging from small modifications up to complete avionics retrofits. Our service center operates 7 days a week in two shifts.

Our business, operations, as well as the team are constantly growing. We are therefore looking for new team members to join JetSupport, and at this moment actively looking for :

Duty Manager

Full-time – Schiphol – Amsterdam

Description:

As Duty Manager you are a first point of contact for aircraft maintenance. In your busy working day you act as key player of the production team. You will be managing, coaching and continuously improving working processes from start to end, liaising with our customers, production, stores and the planning team. You will schedule and oversee workloads to ensure smooth workflow on all maintenance projects. You will supervise, manage and coach the aircraft maintenance team. You will be responsible for staff training, performance assessment and assignment of work. You will be responsible for problem solving, covering broad range of maintenance assignments, as well as cross functional issues, such as quality and safety. You will pick up and improve established policies and procedures within the company's framework.

The Successful Applicant:

- HBO level of education;
- Minimum 5-7 years of managing experience in the aircraft maintenance;
- Experience in planning, coordinating and executing maintenance activities;
- High level of customer orientation, proactive approach;
- Team player with excellent organisational, time management and communication skills;
- Ability to keep perspective and focus in a dynamic environment.

This is our offer:

Upon joining JetSupport, you will work in a motivated team, eager to grow. At JetSupport, we value freedom and responsibility and empower employees to make the right decisions.

If you are interested and meet the skillset above, please send your CV and motivation letter before 30 September 2021 to the following email: recruitment@jetsupport.nl with the "Duty Manager" in the subject line.

Dear recruiters. Acquisition to this vacancy is not appreciated!